a private monumental structure, creates a perpetuity for a use not charitable, and is void; Bates v. Bates, 134 Mass.

A right, given by a will, to sell property for an object which cannot be accomplished, cannot itself be exercised: Id.

Cancellation—Revival of Former Will—Intention—Declarations of Testator.—If a will, which was duly executed, and which contained a clause expressly revoking former wills, is cancelled, it is a question of intention, to be collected from all the circumstances of the case, whether an earlier will, which has not been destroyed, is revived by such cancellation; and in the absence of affirmative evidence that the testator intended to revive the earlier will by the cancellation of the second, the earlier will will be held not to be revived: Pickens v. Davis, 134 Mass.

Oral declarations of a testator, made after the cancellation of a will, are admissible in evidence for the purpose of showing whether he thereby intended to revive a former will which has not been destroyed: Id.
